

ABSTRACT

Disclosed is a portable punch, which includes a handle end and an opposite punch holding end. The portable punch has a grip that helps to orient the portable punch when in use.

- 5 The grip may take the form of a sleeve with the thickness of the plastic sleeve being approximately equal to one-half of the distance that the punch die extends from the cutting side of the portable punch.